Noy to PMA grads: Shun corruption

By ARNOLD C. DELA CRUZ

SCOTT DEL PILAR, Rector of the Philippine Military Academy (PMA), said today that the graduates of the PMA should shun corruption as they face the challenges of their chosen field.

Aquino exhorted the graduates that they should "love their country" at the PMA but not love the money and the challenges of their profession.

"There is the heart of and even you will live in your chosen field," Aquino told the graduates. "You should be the graduates of the PMA, not the graduates of the PMA."

"There is the time to pass which takes to be a soldier and to be a true Filipino," Aquino said.

Aquino stressed that the graduates should be honest and shun corruption as they face the challenges of their profession.

by EDI PUNZO

Some stakeholders in the tourism industry are rallying behind Philippine Airlines and Leisure Travel (PAGCOR) chairman Antonio Pagcor, who recently became controversial after he was charged with a legal case involving the alleged gambling rigging.

The National Association of Travel Agents (NATA) and the Philippine Travel Agents Association (PTAA) issued a statement on the issue of the alleged gambling rigging case involving Pagcor, who is currently serving a 12-month prison term in the Philippines.

NATA's chairman, minister and former congressman Luis Pagcor, and his wife are being sued by the Philippine Travel Agents Association (PTAA) for alleged gambling rigging in the Philippines.

"The hotel and casino industry even if they were not involved in the case, they are very concerned in the industry," Pagcor said in Manila.

Of course, when gambling officials go to jail, we also would give them the best of all opportunities to change their ways and become a responsible citizen," he added.

Pagcor said it was unfair to accuse the PAGCOR chief of committing gambling rigging because he was a victim of the case.

The hotel and casino industry association Pagcor cannot be charged with gambling because at the time, Pagcor was not involved in the case, Pagcor said.

"If there's more transparency and integrity that Pagcor was tried to follow the law in the industry in the country," he pointed out.

Pagcor's case also inspired officials from the Philippine Travel Agents Association (PTAA) to launch a campaign to support Pagcor's case.

Pagcor said that Pagcor is a responsible citizen and a good person who is not involved in the case. Pagcor said he was a victim of the case and he was not involved in the case.

Juvenile justice law encourages minors to commit crimes, says social worker

It has been two years since the Juvenile Justice and Welfare Act (JJWA) was signed into law, but social workers say it has not been fully implemented.

The law, which aims to protect the rights of minors, has been criticized for being too lenient on juveniles who commit crimes.

Social workers say that the law has led to an increase in juvenile crime, as minors are encouraged to commit crimes without facing serious consequences.

The law has also been criticized for being too lenient on juveniles who commit crimes, as it does not provide for adequate punishment.

White rice link seen with Type 2 diabetes, says study

Health researchers said on Tuesday they had found a troubling link between higher consumption of white rice and diabetes, a disease that increases incidence a becoming widespread.

Further work is needed to confirm the apparent connection, said the researchers, who said the study included more than 10,000 people in Hong Kong.

"However, it is important to note that the study did not find a significant link between white rice consumption and diabetes in those who ate less than 100 grams of white rice a day," the researchers said.

"It is very important to eat healthy and eat a balanced diet," the researchers said. "We are not recommending that people eat less white rice."

In the United States, about 17 million people have diabetes, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Researcher said an analysis of more than 10,000 people in Hong Kong, mostly men, found a link between white rice consumption and diabetes.

The researchers found that people who ate more than 100 grams of white rice a day had a 1.5 times higher risk of developing diabetes than those who ate less.

Liver failure and MARS

By JUANITO GARCIA-SERVANTES JR.

Liver disease is a leading cause of death in the United States. It is a condition in which the liver is unable to perform its normal functions. The liver is the largest organ in the body and is responsible for many of the body's functions, including filtering blood, producing bile, and storing energy. Liver disease can be caused by many factors, including alcohol consumption, viral infections, and fatty liver disease. In severe cases, liver failure can occur, which is a life-threatening condition. MARS (Molecular Adsorbent Recirculating System) is a type of artificial liver that can be used to treat liver failure. It works by filtering toxins from the blood and returning the cleaned blood to the patient. MARS is used in hospitals and is a promising treatment for liver failure.

HALE & HEARTY

By MA. ROSARIO SEVILLA, MD

An old man's heart

I was sitting in a coffee shop during a rainy afternoon, waiting for my friend to arrive. I was looking out the window, watching the rain fall on the pavement. I was thinking about my heart and how it has changed over the years. I was feeling a little nervous, but I was also feeling a little happy. I was thinking about the good times I had and the bad times I had. I was thinking about the people I loved and the people I lost. I was thinking about the future and the past. I was thinking about life and death. I was thinking about everything.

Higher gas prices threaten US economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation worries have threatened the US economy, including gasoline prices.

Higher gasoline prices have helped fuel inflation worries, but in a country where 1 in 10 of all gasoline is imported, the US economy is not as vulnerable to oil price swings as it once was. And the higher prices have helped promote the development of alternative fuels that are less costly to produce.

US oil production has increased steadily, and the US economy is not as vulnerable to oil price swings as it once was. And the higher prices have helped promote the development of alternative fuels that are less costly to produce.

DSWD working with Microsoft, ADB on CCT software

By LOUELLA ORSOLINO

The Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD) is working to roll out a software solution with Microsoft, Philippine Council for Development Policy (PCDP) and the Asian Development Bank (ADB) that will improve the efficiency of the confidential cash transfer (CCT) program.

"We are working with ADB and Microsoft in developing a program that would allow us to monitor the cash transfer from social protection organizations and ADB to our organizations to ensure that the cash is being used for the intended purpose," said Secretary Ericson Sison. "We expect that the solution of the Microsoft CCT program will be done soon."

The software, which is expected to be completed by September, will be used by the PCDP, ADB and the ADB. The software is being developed in a way that will be compatible with the PCDP and the ADB's government to ensure security to their data.

The cost of the software is expected to be around $1 million, but the software is expected to be developed in a way that will be compatible with the PCDP and the ADB's government to ensure security to their data.

implemented by would-be Trust Officers who have at least three years of actual experience in trust operations, or with at least five years of actual experience in other of a bank-related activities. Also, when the Trust Investment Trust Fund (TITF) was introduced in the market, BPI created BPI Creditors' 447 which required all participating companies to still handle the role of the TITF to ensure the foundation's Training Program which was aimed by the TITF in cooperation with the TDMF. The Institute has conducted 10 batches since 2004 and has already submitted to BPI a total of 298 Certified TITF Officers as of February 28, 2010.

Working with but a few students during its early days – an initial membership of 10 students – today the Institute is proud to have over a thousand graduates coming from, to name a few, the banking and non-banking sectors, educational institutions, government regulatory bodies, NGOs and leverage corporations, manufacturing firms, the Strong of Representatives, SOEs, PNOC, AFP-RMS, AFPSCAL, LTV, KMC, insurance companies, agricultural sector, and educational institutions, either as part of their employees' training program or scholarship in their own capacity in pursuit of additional knowledge towards self development. With the passing class of 16 students, the TITF will have trained over 2,272 graduates during its 35 years of existence.

In order to attract individuals not only trust officers who are needed by companies in their respective institutions but also other non-trust professionals who held important posts in government, private members of private schools, and others in the private sector.

The Institute hopes to carry on its noble activities with more vigor and enthusiasm in the years to come. At 70 years old, with roots in its past going up to Emilio Aguinaldo in 1911, Trust School and provide more creative products like Advance Course on Investment Management, Institute on Estate Planning, Real Estate Accredited Trust, and other relevant topics, thus allowing it to look close to its long goal of providing knowledge to our education.

Indeed, TITF remains in providing education on Trust. Through the years, can be attributed to the commitment and perseverance of its members, institutions, its disciplines, the TDMF, the support of the regulators, and the willing hands of the banking sector within the TITF organization to carry on its mission and the networks proposed and founded. The late Thomas T. Gomez, President of BPI, along with the other founders (cooperatives, schools, banks, etc.) and the President of BPI, and now merged with Bank of the Philippines

Member: Atty. Bernabido C. Geronimo, then Trust Officer of Landbank and is now a senior partner of Remicko, Mahabud & Co., Law Offices; Atty. Maureen C. Sison II, then Vice President of Trust Bank; Corp. President; Atty. Maureen C. Sison, currently Vice President of Philippine National Bank.

Mr. Jesus B. Mendoza, formerly of First Bank in Trust; Company President; and now merged with BPI; Atty. Antonio J. Peral, formerly of Filinvest Bank and now merged with Presidential Bank and later merged with BPI; and the late Atty. Napagao.

Members of 1946 Veterans Bank. Looking back at the history of its founders, TITF has gone along way from its origin to its present. And TITF's dream of making a wider public understanding of trusts and its benefits will continue having a reality.
